Mayor Schroder opened and closed the public hearing with no speakers coming forward.

On motion by Michael Menesini, Councilmember, seconded by Lara DeLaney, Vice Mayor, introduce an ordinance amending the Martinez Municipal Code by repealing and reenacting Chapters 15.04, 15.16, 15.20, 15.24, 15.28 and adopting Chapters 15.07 and 15.05, adopting by reference the Uniform Building Code, the Uniform Mechanical Code, the Uniform Plumbing Code, the Uniform Electrical Code, the Uniform Fire Code, the Uniform Green Building Standards Code and the Uniform Residential Code and repealing Chapters 15.08 and 15.12. Motion unanimously passed 5 - 0.

13. Public hearing to consider Annexation of a portion of the Alhambra Valley and proposed actions: [T.Blount, C.Simon, & A.Mepani/1.227]

Planning Manager Terry Blount and Senior Planner Corey Simon presented the staff report and powerpoint. Mr. Blount took a moment to invite the public to the next General Plan community workshops. He reviewed the suggested actions for the Council to take. He described the background of the area and the annexation process, including the LAFCO (Local Agency Formation Commission) Municipal Service Review, completed in 2006, and the City's response, including that the zoning of the annexation would be in accordance with the County's Alhambra Valley Specific Plan (AVSP). He also described the criteria by which the area (Area A) to be annexed had been chosen, including the number of properties with and without annexation agreements and other existing constraints.

Mr. Simon discussed the existing land use regulations in the Valley, described in the County General Plan, the AVSP, and the County Zoning regulations. He reviewed the proposed regulatory framework to be added to the City's General Plan, including the new Land Use Designations and Zoning Districts, minor changes in order to be consistent with State law, and requests from the Alhambra Valley Improvement Association.

Mr. Blount described the LAFCO annexation application process, the CEQA considerations, and the fiscal impact. He also noted two minor typographical corrections to some of the documents in the packet.

Mayor Schroder opened the public hearing.

Gary Ries spoke of the unique atmosphere of Alhambra Valley and asked if annexation was beneficial to the Valley, why the City only intended to annex parts of it.

Mayor Schroder read a statement from Robin and Joan Arieta stating that they were adamantly against the annexation.

Brian Mulry of Gagen McCoy, representing the Alhambra Valley Improvement Association, explained some of the reasons for the opposition to the annexation, including the fact that the area to be annexed was selected because of the Deferred Annexation Agreements and not because of land-use factors, and the fact that the Valley would lose their Specific Plan. He added that he had submitted a letter to the City stating these objections.

Hal Olson criticized the selection of the annexation areas and compared it to gerrymandering. He also noted the lack of annexation agreements on file for some of the properties.

Joan Holmou stated that she appreciated being part of the County and expressed doubt that the City would be able to maintain all of the roads.

Tom Griffin spoke on behalf of the Griffin family, noting the length of time they had lived in the Valley and expressing contentment with the Valley as it is.

Sharon Hanna noted the length of time her husband's family had lived in the Valley and stated that having the areas around their home annexed would leave them vulnerable to annexation, which they did not want.

Nancy Lompa asked if the land-use designation for her family's property would change, and Mr. Blount clarified that it would not. Mr. Simon noted that the land-use designation sometimes differed from the zoning.

Ernest Lompa stated that he and his wife had not known when they bought the property that they would need to be annexed in order to have water. He expressed frustration with the unfairness of the process.

Bruce Grenke, a fourth-generation resident, stated that the residents of Alhambra Valley paid to live there because they did not want to be a part of the City, adding that the City should be protecting the natural resources instead of taking them over.

James Rosenquist agreed with everything that had been said so far and stated that the Valley should be treated as a unit, noting that he had not signed a deferred annexation agreement.

Igor Skaredoff, a member of Friends of Alhambra Creek and of the General Plan task force, asked why the City wasn't amending the General Plan before doing the annexation and suggested that it was awkward to do them at the same time.

Tod Kilbourn suggested that the Council should not alienate the Friends of Alhambra Valley.

Ken Jordan expressed his opposition to the way the annexation areas were selected and stated that the County law enforcement was adequate for the Valley.

Jim Allen stated that he did not know anyone in the Valley who wanted to be annexed, and insisted that the Valley's services were more efficient than the City's.

Frederick Maida stated that he and his neighbors were attracted to the cohesiveness of the Valley and wanted to get away from cities, and added that he was not confident in the City's ability to improve the Valley.

John Ricca noted that the Planning Commission had voted against the annexation, and clarified with staff that Vaca Creek Way had been eliminated from the annexation area, and that zoning changes could be made after two years.

Marie Olson asked about the lack of annexation agreements. She agreed that the planning staff had worked hard to integrate the AVSP with the General Plan, but noted that the General Plan could be violated.

Mike Alford stated that the residents of the Valley wanted to keep their homes pristine and suggested that the City would not manage the area well. He stated that the Council needed to listen to the people, and not coerce them into annexation.

Forest Rosengren stated that the citizens of California had voted for a commission against gerrymandering and criticized the selection of the annexation areas. She added that the Council was not acting for the people.

Wayne Jones stated that the Valley was beautiful the way it was, and suggested that the City would not be able to handle the problems with the creek.

Councilmember Menesini stated his intention to support the annexation. He noted that the annexation area was already served by many of the City's services, such as water, roads and community parks. He stated that the City had served as an excellent steward of its resources and the Valley's resources so far. He added that the City wanted to preserve and protect the Valley.

Councilmember Ross noted that he had grown up in Alhambra Valley and expressed his belief that the Valley was already part of Martinez's community. He added that he had come with an open mind, but that he had not been convinced the Valley should be separate from the City. He also noted that he would prefer to try to annex the entire Valley at once, even if it would mean rejection. He added that the septic tanks in the Valley were not well managed and that the City would be able to correct it. He agreed with Councilmember Menesini that the City did not want to change the Valley.

Councilmember Kennedy stated that she had also come with an open mind, and noted that where she lived, the city limits were already unpredictable. She stated that one thing she liked about Martinez was that there was not prejudice about which part of the City someone lived in. She also added that many residents of the Valley were active members of the community in the City. She pointed out that the annexation agreements were legal, and affirmed that while she too would support annexation of the entire Valley, she intended to support the resolution.

Vice Mayor DeLaney expressed agreement with the other Councilmembers. She asked staff for a clarification of the missing DAAs. Mr. Blount confirmed that the City had data on all of the properties with DAAs, and stated that he did not understand what Ms. Olson was referring to. He expressed his certainty that staff's analysis was reliable. Vice Mayor DeLaney stated her confusion that the agreements had been signed and yet people did not want to honor them. She stated that she did not believe the City was doing something unethical, because the contracts ought to be enforced. With regard to the Planning Commission's rejection of the annexation, she explained that their reasoning was based on the fact that the entire Valley was not included, so the land-use designations would be inconsistent. She stated that reasoning was faulty because the City's land-use designations would echo the County's. She noted that there was also no reason to wait for the completion of the General Plan update because the City did not intend to change the land-use designations. She added that the entire community would benefit from the Measure H funds. She concluded that she would support staff's recommendation.

Councilmember Ross added, with regard to the worries about development in the Valley, that the County had allowed the development that had occurred so far, and the City had prevented further development by putting in the urban limit line. He reiterated that the Council had the best interests of the public in mind and had been elected to do what they were doing.

Mayor Schroder referred to his previous experience on the LAFCO board, explaining that LAFCO was very reluctant to grant out-of-area service requests, except in cases of threats to public health, and their preference was instead to have the out-of-area properties annexed. He added that in the future, cities may be required by the State to annex all of the area within their sphere of influence. In response to the argument that the City could not be trusted to maintain zoning laws, he noted that in the downtown, the variances granted by the City improved the neighborhoods. He also noted that the Muir Oaks community had remained virtually unchanged since its annexation, which showed a good track record by the City.
